COMING DOWN HOME STRETCH!

Popular Lady Contest Now Exciting Lively Interest all Over the County.

Vote Narrowing Down to a Neck and Neck Contest Between Misses Ware and Baker.

WILL THE CITY OR THE COUNTRY WIN?

Fourth Official Count Made Last Wednesday By Judge Fowler and Mayor Henry, Showed Miss Baker Ahead.

ONLY NINETEEN MORE DAYS LEFT TO VOTE.

The KENTUCKIAN's Popular Lady Contest is now the talk of the county. The fourth official count was made by the judges, Mayor Henry and Judge Fowler, Wednesday, and no material changes made from the unofficial returns published from time to time. The figures today are official, except that some votes were added yesterday.

Two of the candidates have forged so far ahead that their leads represent in money about $100 over their nearest competitors. This is naturally causing the keenest interest to center in the contest between Misses Ware and Baker. One represents the city and the other the county and the final fight is being pitched largely on the question of city against country.

Miss Tony Ware is the eldest daughter of Mr. J. D. Ware, the prominent tobacconist, of Hopkinsville.

Miss Alberta Baker is the eldest unmarried daughter of Mrs. Julia Stowe Baker, of Julien, and represents two of the leading families of the county.

Both young ladies are typical Kentucky girls, beautiful, vivacious and possessing many graces and accomplishments.

It is rumored (but don't tell anybody we said so) that the elegant set of furniture, worth $100, will prove to be a most appropriate and timely premium for the winner, no matter which is victor, and that in each case more than one person has an interest in the outcome. If this is denied, we will of course take it all back—not the furniture, but the premature announcement.

It is due to the young ladies to say that they are not "candidates" in the ordinary sense of the word. It is their friends who are hustling for the votes, and the county is being organized in a most systematic way. In the meantime, the subscribers to the KENTUCKIAN who are behind have less than three weeks in which to pay up and get in their votes. The contest will close positively on Wednesday March 4th. Remember the date and don't get left.

New subscribers get 40 votes to start with and can clip coupons from each paper until March 3.

The figures yesterday were as follows:

Miss Alberta Baker, Julien	476
Miss Tony Ware, city	464
Miss Daisy Rice, city	286
Miss Essie Day, Crofton	267
Miss Beattie Russell, city	1339
Miss Addie Broadly, city	1011
Miss Mattie Purcell, Lafayette	780
Miss Jean McKee, city	638
Miss Sarah Garnett, Pembroke	460
Miss Sallie Tandy, Pembroke	459
Mrs. W. H. Jessup, city	286
Miss Alice Scooby, city	161
Miss Annie M. Reynolds, county	141
Miss Maude Dawson, Herndon	92

"BREATH CUT OFF."

Patient in the Asylum Found Dead in His Room.

Teamos Taylor, a patient in the Western Asylum, from Ohio county, about 32 years of age, was found dead on the floor in his room about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Coroner Allensworth held an inquest and empaneled the following jury: J. C. O'Bryan, foreman, P. B. May, W. C. Cook, P. Jenkins, W. J. Chiles, and T. L. Thompson. Chas. Roby, attendant on the ward, testified that Taylor was subject to epileptic fits.

The verdict of the jury was that Taylor fell from his bed, probably in a fit of epilepsy, and "fell upon his face in such a way as to cut off his breath."

Crick-Williams.

Mr. Joel Crick and Miss Mary Williams, both of Nortonville, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williams.

BIG FALL IN GLASSWARE.

Plate Glass Window Nine Feet Square Broken to Pieces.

One of the big glasses in the Planters' Hardware Company's windows was broken Wednesday morning.

Wallace Brumfield, a salesman, was operating the traveling ladder, which ran off the end of the track next to the window, causing the crash, which left nothing unbroken. Mr. Brumfield was near the floor and escaped injury. The glass was nearly nine feet square and it will cost $125 to replace it. The loss falls on the occupants of the storeroom.

Case is Continued.

Madisonville, Ky., Feb. 11.—The case of J. D. Wood and other officials, charged with banding themselves together with unlawful intent during the labor war in this county in 1901, was called for hearing in the circuit court and was continued.

COUNCIL CUTS LOOSE.

Will Hereafter Run Its Own Workhouse.

Partnership With The County Has Proven Very Unsatisfactory.

The city council Friday night in executive session passed a very important ordinance, cutting loose from the county in the workhouse business. The city has owned five-eighths of the workhouse property and the county the rest. The city has supplied four-fifths of the convicts, paying for their board. When the convicts were worked by the city, their labor had to be paid for at regular rates.

The city had no voice in electing the keeper and altogether the arrangement proved so unsatisfactory that the city council has very wisely concluded to dissolve the partnership.

The contract has been let for the erection of an addition to the city building that will increase the capacity of the lockup to 16 men and the convicts will be boarded by the city teamster, as at present, when they are not sent to the workhouse, at 35 cents a day, and required to work out their fines on the streets.

The present cost of the workhouse to the city is about $1400 and it is estimated that an average of ten prisoners can be maintained under the new arrangement at considerably less. The contract with the county can be terminated at any time by either party, and this notice has been given.

CANSLER-LANTRIP.

Considerable tobacco from Muhlenberg, Todd and other counties around was sold.

RECORD OF THE PAST

No Stronger Evidence Can Be Produced.

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Any one with a bad back, any reader suffering from any trouble, from any kidney illness, will find in the following evidence proof that relief and cure is near at hand.

Mr. G. M. Myers, the well-known shoemaker of Winchester, 14th and 14th street, Ashland, Ky., says: "Don't Kidney Pills are like true friends, the longer you know them the better they are appreciated. I can add nothing to the statement I first made in 1896 after I purchased the remedy at the Ventura Drug Co. and took a course of the treatment, which cured me. I was absolutely free from all backache for nearly three years, then I noticed a slight ache, as the result of a cold, in my back. A box of Don's Kidney Pills disposed of it. I have recommended this remedy to many, and have never heard of one who did not endorse the claims made for it."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Don's—and take no substitute.

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing, and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by C. K. Wily, druggist.

I decided to keep on using the liment and in a short time the cancer came out, my face healed up and there is not the slightest scar left. THE QUAGGA EXTERMINATED.

Traits of Animal Once Frequently Seen in South Africa.

Even in the days of its abundance the quagga (which, by the way, takes its name from its cry) had a comparatively limited distribution, ranging from the Cape Colony up the eastern side of Africa as far as the Vaal river, beyond which it appears to have been unknown. In this respect it closely resembled the white-tailed gnu, which, however, is known to have crossed that river in one district. Curiously enough, says Knowledge, the two species live in close comradeship, and in the old days their vast herds formed a striking feature in the landscape of the open plains of the Orange River colony. Owing to its rank flavor, and especially its yellow fat, the flesh of the quagga was almost uneatable by Europeans, although it was keenly relished by the Hottentots, who, in the early days of Cape colony, were largely fed upon it by their Dutch masters.

Whether this was the cause of its comparatively early disappearance from that part of the country it is now impossible to say, but certain it is that when Sir Cornwallis Harris made his trip to the interior in 1836, quaggas were no longer to be met with in any number in Cape Colony, although Col. Hamilton Smith, writing a few years later, states that they were still to be found within its limits. North of the Vaal river they occurred, however, in their original multitude, and it was not till about the middle of the last century that the Boers took to hide hunting, and thus in a few years accomplished the extermination of the species.

The quagga could be broken easily to harness, and it would seem probable that the species could have been more easily domesticated than any of its South African relatives. Another trait in its disposition is worth mention. It was said to be the boldest and fiercest of the whole equine tribe, attacking and driving off both the wild dog and the spotted hyena. On this account the Boers are stated to have frequently kept a few tame quaggas on their farms, which were turned out at night to graze with the horses, in order to protect them from the attacks of beasts of prey.

CHAMPION SHARK YARN.

A Fish That Swam After It Had Been Cut to Pieces.

The representatives of the principal Australian papers were taken out to sea about 50 miles from Brisbane in the pilot boat to meet Mrs. Melba on September 16. She was traveling from Canada to Australia by the mail steamship Miowera. While the pilot boat was waiting for the Miowera, says the Sydney Daily Telegraph, the ship's company had a remarkable and probably unprecedented experience. A great gray shark, about 12 feet in length, was hooked on a snapper line, which broke. A second time the big fish got on the snapper line, and then a third. Then a large shark hook with a chain was thrown out, and the ravenous brute grabbed it, and was caught. All hands, pilots, cook and pressmen, tugged the shark to the vessel's side. A huge hook on the anchor tackle was put through his jaw and one eye, and the fish was then hauled out of the water. One of the crew ripped the monster open from the head to the tail. The vital organs and entrails were thrown overboard, and then both jaws were hacked out for the sake of securing the teeth. Nothing but the shell of the fish remained, and the shark was lowered overboard. A rush was made to the side to see him sink, but the company was astounded to see the fish make off. First he swam about 50 yards away, returned to the steamer, and then went off on another tack for about 30 yards, came back to the vessel and swam astern, and was still swimming when he was lost sight of. That the fish could swim away with the whole of his interior from head to tail and the jaw and one eye gone simply raised the hair of the pilots and crew, who had never seen or heard of the like before.

Wasted Water.

It is about 12 months since the boring operations in the Simpson tunnel let loose the unexpended reservoirs of water which have been flowing ever since in a deluge that almost defies imagination. According to the Tribune de Geneve, the stream has been ceaseless ever since, pouring through the tunnel at the rate of about 800 gallons a second, day and night. That is to say, every week for the last year has seen the absolute wastage of 150,000,000 gallons of water.

A STRONG MAN

Has the advantage over a weak man in the world of work. Physical strength is made from food when it has been digested and assimilated. There is no other way in which strength can be made except from food. There's many a weak man who is unable to do hard and heavy work because the food he eats is not properly digested and so fails to nourish the body. He has stomach "trouble" in some form.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It builds up the body with solid flesh and strong muscle, by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia for over two years, and I was a complete physical wreck," writes Mr. Preston E. Fenstermacher, of Egypt, Lehigh Co., Pa. "Had many terrifying, gnawing and aching pains—I think about all that a dyspeptic has or ever could have. I also suffered much with constipation. Muscles were soft and flabby, circulation poor and slow. Suffered greatly from cold hands and feet. At last I came across an advertisement of Dr. Pierce's and I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets. I need about eight vials of the 'Pellets' and ten bottles of the 'Discovery,' which brought me back to my former state of health."

If you ask your dealer for "Golden Medical Discovery" because you have confidence in its cures, do not allow yourself to be switched off to a medicine claimed to be "just as good," but which you did not ask for and of which you know nothing.

The sluggish liver is made active by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

How Can I Keep Up with the Times?

It is pretty hard to keep well informed on the political news, the scientific news, the literary news, the educational movements, the great business developments, the hundreds of interesting and valuable articles in the hundreds of excellent magazines. About the only way it can be done by the average busy man and woman is to read a magazine like "The Review of Reviews," and as it is the only magazine of the sort, it is a good thing to send $2.50 for a year's subscription.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT says: "I know that through its columns views have been presented to me that I could not otherwise have had access to; because all earnest and thoughtful men, no matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free utterance in its columns."

ARSENICAL POISONING.

Said to Be a Cause of Cancer and Other Diseases.

For a long time it has been known, says the London Hospital, that arsenic was capable under certain conditions of producing serious lesions. The very serious outbreak of arsenical poisoning arising from gross contamination of beer which recently caused so much suffering in the north of England has done much to arouse interest in the nature of the toxic action of arsenic. Much important material has been collected and numerous suggestions have opened up fresh paths for investigation. It would seem that much of the "alcoholic neuritis" so long a common clinical entity in Manchester and district, was really of arsenical origin.

It is, of course, irrational and unscientific to jump to the conclusion, as some have done, that all peripheral neuritis in alcoholics was of arsenical causation, but the proof is clear that in some districts arsenic has for many years been present in appreciable quantities in malt liquors. There is also good ground for believing that the muscular degeneration which so conspicuously involved the myocardium of beer drinkers, produced the so-called "alcoholic dilatation of the heart," formerly exceedingly common in Lancashire, also arose in many cases from the action of arsenic. It would seem that alcohol has the power of increasing the toxic action of arsenic on human tissues.

An attempt has been made to show that beriberi, an important tropical disease fortunately but rarely met with in this country, is also dependent on the introduction of arsenic. The main evidence presented is that arsenic has been found in the hair of beriberi patients. But Dr. Patrick Mason has recently shown that Chinese tobacco often contains appreciable quantities of arsenic introduced apparently mainly with the idea of giving the weed a garlic flavor. And Gutter, it will be remembered, has contended that arsenic must be considered a normal constituent of hair and other human tissues, although it must be admitted that such contention has not received adequate substantiation.

Mr. Jonathan Hutchinson seeks to show that arsenic may have an etiological relationship to cancer. In the Polydine he accepts as proved that chimney-sweepers' cancer is caused by the local irritation of arsenic. "The fact that neither road dust nor wood ashes would cause it has been long recognized. Neither charcoal burners nor coal miners are liable to suffer cancer. Its subjects are chimney sweeps, stokers, gardeners and others who come in contact with coal soot. Now coal soot contains large quantities of arsenic, and in the chimney sweeps is, in all respects, exactly like that which occurs occasionally in connection with the long continued medicinal use of arsenic. The chain of evidence appears therefore to be complete."

Mr. Hutchinson now advances still a step further. "That the habit of smoking is productive of cancer may be taken to be as well established as that exposure to coal soot can cause it; but we have not yet demonstrated that in this instance it is the presence of arsenic in tobacco that is influential." Mr. Hutchinson is rich in suggestions, but we venture to think that, until more adequate evidence is forthcoming, pathologists must abstain from any dogmatic expression which can only hinder progress and give rise to needless anxiety to the public.

A Primitive Clock.

A naturalist, whilst visiting Great Sangar, one of those islands of the Indian ocean known as the Celebes or Spice Islands, found a curious time-reorderer lodged in the house of a rajah. Two bottles were firmly lashed together and fixed in a wooden frame. A quantity of black and ran from one bottle into the other in just half an hour, and when the upper bottle was empty the frame was reversed. Twelve short sticks, marked with notches from one to twelve, were hung upon a string. A hook was placed between the stick bearing the number of notches corresponding to the hour last struck and the one to be struck next. The sentry announced the time by striking the hour on a large gong.

Diamond-Cutting Extraordinary.

After several unsuccessful attempts and three years' labor the unparalleled feat of cutting a ring out of a single diamond has been accomplished by the patience and skill of Mr. Antoine, one of the best known lapidaries of Antwerp. The ring is about three-quarters of an inch in diameter.

HIS LIFE NOT HAPPY.

Archduke Karl of Austria Exists in Splendid Misery.

Little Boy Who May Become Emperor and King is Depressed of All the Pleasures and Sports of Childhood.

On account of a combination of extraordinary circumstances, it is highly probable that after the death of Emperor Francis Joseph, neither his heir-presumptive, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, nor his nephew, Archduke Otto, who stands second in the line of succession, will ascend the throne, but that the crown of Austria-Hungary will pass to Archduke Karl, now a boy 15 years of age.

Although this strange break in the succession has been a possibility for some time, it has become a probability only recently. It is now reported that the boy's father and uncle have definitely promised to stand aside for him and that a formal declaration to this effect is about to be made.

It might be supposed that the altered situation would cause the small Karl to be a very happy young person—which same supposition is a grievous error. He is the unhappy boy in Europe, and his future prospects are even more miserable than the present confers upon him.

All his life, says the Chicago Record-Herald, he has been kept in restraint on the ground that the future emperor must not do this, that and the other. He has enjoyed none of the frolics and amusements that make the lives of other boys merry. Since his eighth birthday his only recreation has been military drill, for the future emperor must be a soldier who understands all branches of the profession thoroughly. Besides his native German, ten languages are spoken by the various peoples of Austria-Hungary, and the little archduke has to learn them all, for he must be prepared to talk to his future subjects in their own tongues. These are the Czechs,

ARCHDUKE KARL OF AUSTRIA. (Heir-Presumptive to the Thrones of Austria and Hungary.)

Polish, Rutenian, Roumanian, Slavonian, Serbian, Croatian, Hungarian, Wallachian, and Bulgarian, and the list of languages which do not complete the archduke's linguistic requirements, for he must also be proficient in French, Italian, English, and Spanish.

There are 19 legislative assemblies in the dual monarchy, and the future emperor-king must be acquainted with the political affairs of each of them. He must be an expert in diplomacy, in jurisprudence, in administrative government, in commercial matters, in sociology, and in finance. The task of acquiring all these varied accomplishments is laborious in the extreme. The archduke rises at five every morning, and begins his studies at six. At ten o'clock he works with one of his many tutors, he takes an interval for breakfast and goes back to his books. At twelve o'clock lunch is taken at noon, and from one till three in the afternoon the archduke performs military drill, which consists of drilling, fencing, gymnastics, marching, sword drill, revolver drill and trench digging. Studies are resumed at 4:30, and continue till six, at which hour he has a short nap. After dinner Archduke Karl spends an hour with his mother and younger brother, and goes back to his books for another hour before retiring to rest punctually at nine o'clock.

Twice a week he attends lectures on science at the Schotten high school, in order that he may see something of life at a public school. But he has none of the fun. He goes solemnly in the court equipped with his tutor, Counts Waldsee and his wife, dressed in plain clothes swarming about for his life is valuable. He sits in the front row with the other pupils, but is permitted to behave practically no intercourse with them.

It can be no particular gratification to him that he is heir to great wealth. He gets $40,000 a year just for being emperor's son, and he accumulates until he comes of age at 20, he will then have nearly $1,000,000, besides a continuation for life of $40,000. When he ascends the throne he inherits the private property appropriated to each emperor, supposed to be worth about $3,000,000 a year.

THE SIZE OF ATOMS.

Noted Scientists in Practical Agreement on Difficult Problem.

Mr. H. V. Rindout recently read a paper before the Physical Society of London on "The Size of Atoms." This inquiry, which dates back to the time of the ancient Greeks, has in recent times received increasing attention; and for advanced physical research the size of the atom as the ultimate unit of matter is becoming of as much importance as standardizing the unit of length once was, and as the units of electrical measurements were quite recently. In this country, the problem has been attacked by Prof. Clerk Maxwell, Lord Kelvin, and others, and on the continent among others by Loschmidt, Nernst, Ostwald and Van der Waals. From the methods employed it would seem that they reached only the penultimate state of matter. Mr. Rindout, in his paper the other day, started from the dissociation of electrolysis of Prof. Arrhenius, of Stockholm, and by a series of simple geometrical operations and the application of established electrical formulae found as a result that the ion or electrified atom, constituting the smallest quantity of matter which can take part in electrolytic action, is in the case of hydrogen about 1.286-millionth of an inch in diameter, and that the errors possible to the method are limited to a few per cent. In the discussion which followed the reading of the paper, Lord Kelvin reviewed the subject generally from the mathematical standpoint, and the recent theory of electrons. In the course of his remarks he noted as a strange coincidence that by an entirely distinct series of operations his latest computation gave a figure which was practically the same as that found by Mr. Rindout.—London Times.

BRAGGING IS NEVER SAFE.

Boarding House Fare to Which One Man Invited His Friend.

"It is hard to tell who the joke is on, the man, his guest, or the boarding house keeper," chuckled an up-town man to a friend, as related in the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "And you can take your choice when you hear the yarn. The man in the case had been in New Orleans for some time, and has been impressed with the fine qualities of New Orleans food. In fact, he has been so much impressed that he has been writing to friends up the country that after staying here awhile he was firmly convinced that you simply couldn't get anything decent to eat at any other place. One of these friends dropped in a few days ago and brought his wife with him. Of course the man who had been in New Orleans for some time had to do the proper thing. He had to invite his friend and wife out to dine with him. He went to the boarding house keeper and told her he had his friends here, and would bring them out to dinner the next day. 'Of course,' said she, 'there'll be some extra expense, but I'll foot the bill, and I want you to spread yourself on the dinner, for I've been boasting about how well they feed in New Orleans, and I want to prove it to the complete satisfaction of my friends.' That was all right, the lady assured him, and she said she was only too glad he had mentioned the matter. The next day he had his friends out with him. The color hadn't left his face yet. He scarcely had inventory after supper showed that each dish had been served with one oyster on the shell, one small potato, one piece of chicken, one biscuit—but there is no use going any further with the menu. One oyster on the shell! My friend was the maddest man in town, and hasn't quieted down yet. He left the boarding house, which causes me to inquire who got the worst of the bargain—the man, the guests, or the boarding house keeper?"

The prospects of settlement in the Venezuelan matter are growing brighter. Germany is now the only kicker.

Hon. John K. Hendrick was engaged in an important lawsuit at Paducah Monday, and did not fill his appointment to speak at Cadiz.

Every day it is becoming more and more evident that the opposition to Judge Bush in Christian county is confined to the personal following of one or two men. We have never seen the county more united in any man's support before a nomination. Bush's majority will not be less than 1500 and may go to 2,000 in the county.

It is worthy of comment that the very men who are leading the opposition against Charlie Bush in his own county, not sixty days ago, signed a petition asking him to run against Judge Cook, who was then a candidate. After some hesitation Mr. Bush finally decided to run, upon being assured of a clear track in his own county, but no sooner had he announced than his professed friends showed up on the other side. And yet we occasionally hear of a man who says he would like to be for his home man but "promised" before he came out.

BELL'S WINNING RACE.

Mr. Webb C. Bell, of this county, is making an active canvass of the district in the interest of his candidacy for Railroad Commissioner. He has already visited 30 of the 39 counties and every where meets with encouragement and promises of support. His opponents are McD. Ferguson, of McCracken; E. B. Samuels, of Hickman; and J. F. Dempsey, of Hopkins, who has already served two terms in the office. Mr. Bell has an extensive acquaintance all over the district. Christian county will back him solidly and he expects to carry the Second district by a good majority.

A BACHELOR TAX.

It Costs An Unmarried Man as Much to Live as a Married One in the Argentine Republic.

In the Argentine Republic they have solved to their own satisfaction the "bachelor problem" by the simple method of making it cost an unmarried man as much money to live in unmarried bliss as it would cost him to marry.

A man is marriageable in Argentina when he is 20. If from that date and until he passes his thirty-eighth birthday he wishes to remain single he must pay $5 a month to the state. For the next five years the tax increases 100 per cent.

Between 43 and 50 bachelors is mulcted to the tune of $20 a month. From his 50th year to 75 $30 a month is the tax, but having reached the 75th year the tax is reduced to $10 a year. After 80 a man can remain single without paying anything.

There is a paragraph relating to widowers, who are given three years in which to mourn and pick a successor.

A man who can prove that he has proposed and been refused three times in one year is also considered to have earned immunity from taxation.

It is said that the law works like a charm.

THIRD ROUND.

Henderson Man's Varied Experience as a bridegroom.

Henderson, Ky., Feb. 11.—A. J. Crawford, aged 33 years, obtained marriage license for his fourth marriage this morning. He was sent to the penitentiary for three years in 1892 for horse stealing and after his term expired he went to Missouri and married a woman there. Afterwards he returned to this county and married his first wife. The Missouri wife heard of it and prosecuted Crawford and he was sent to the penitentiary for this county for bigamy for a term of six years. He has just returned and secured the license, as above stated.

VICTORY FOR RAILROAD.

L. & N. Wins Long and Short Haul Case in the Appellate Court.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 11.—The judgment of the Marion Circuit Court in the long and short-haul cases of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company against the Commonwealth was reversed by the Court of Appeals at today's session.

The opinion of the court here is that the investigation of the State Railroad Commission, and an adverse decision by it against the railroad company, is necessary in every case before an indictment can be had under Section 820 of the statutes (the long and short-haul law); that no declaration of the State Railroad Commission on the subject of competition in freight can be projected in the future, but must act alone in the present and past.

Judge Barker delivered the opinion of the court, the full bench concurring in the case. Judges Hobson, Nunn and Settle dissent from the majority opinion, and the first-named writes a dissenting opinion. The actions, quite a large number of them, were by indictment against the L. & N. Company by a Marion county grand jury for violation of the long and short-haul section of the Kentucky statutes. In each case the company was found guilty in the lower court and fined. The court here says the peremptory instructions should have been given for the company.

Bright's Disease is more dreaded by physicians than any of the ailments of the human system, and is a disorder with which they have to deal because of its insidious and malignant character. If prompt action were taken when headaches, urinary disorders, digestive troubles first appear, much suffering and sorrow would be averted. Prickly Ash Bitters will quickly stop the spread of the disease, quiet the inflammation, heal the kidneys and bladder, strengthen and regulate the liver, and drive poisons and impurities out of the system. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

Bleeding the Candidates.

If the various county committees in this district don't assess the candidates for representatives and circuit clerks anything at all, there will be more money by odds than it will take to hold the election. Let's see: $8.00 from State candidates. $2.25 for railroad commissioner, and $9.75 from the district offices already assessed, make a total for each precinct of even $20. Don't anyone know that such is an outrage.—Mayfield Messenger.

The man who was "born tired" should use Prickly Ash Bitters. It makes work a necessity to give vent to the energy and exuberance of spirits generated by functional activity in the system. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

Postoffice Improvements.

The postoffice lobby has been much improved in appearance, the walls having been newly papered with blue paper and the ceiling and woodwork newly painted and varnished. A carpet has also been put down at the money order window. The exterior of the building has also been painted and beautified.

For driving out dull bilious feeling, strengthening the appetite and increasing the capacity of the body for work, Prickly Ash Bitters is a golden remedy. For sale by R. C. Hardwick.

Seeks Legal Separation.

Geo. H. Merritt has filed suit for divorce from Susan Merritt. The petition states that they were married in 1870, and since January 1, 1897, they have lived separate and apart.

Reading by Sound.
M. de Turine has invented a new style of book for the blind. It consists of a sheet of transparent paper with signs representing the letters of the Morse alphabet printed on it in lines. The signs are small white squares on a black background, and when the sheet is placed between two plates of glass and illuminated from behind the light passes through the white signs. The blind person reads the words by moving an opaque piece of cardboard along the lines from left to right. But blind he cannot see the illuminated signs, but the light passing through them falls on a selenium cell in circuit with a battery and telephone, or some equivalent device, and he can hear them.

Fine Farm for Sale!

just returned from an examination of it and pronounces it "a fine money-making farm and cheap at the price asked." The improvements are all first class. The house has both hot and cold water, most of the barns are new or nearly so and nowhere in the United States can you buy a place so cheap, quality of land, improvements and general surroundings considered, as this. If you are interested and feel that you cannot undertake the whole deal yourself, get some one to join you, and you can all make money. This property is going to be sold right and quick, so if you want it step up before an outsider comes in and gobbles it up. Full particulars exclusively given by addressing

We heard a man say the other morning that the abbreviation for February—Feb.—means Freeze every body, and that man looked frozen in his utterance. It was apparent that he needed the kind of warmth that stays, the warmth that reaches from head to foot, all over the body. We could have told him from personal knowledge that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives permanent warmth, it invigorates the blood and speeds it along through artery and vein, and really fits men and women, boys and girls, to enjoy cold weather and resist the attacks of disease. It gives the right kind of warmth, stimulates and strengthens at the same time, and all its benefits are lasting. There may be a suggestion in this for you.

The story of "Old Arkansas" is an unusually interesting one, and is admirably told. The first act shows "Arkansas's" cabin and introduces his ward Sue, who is about to go to St. Louis to be "educated." At night the express train is held up and robbed near the cabin, and the crime is laid to "Old Arkansas" by circumstantial evidence, strengthened by the testimony of Gerald Hawley, who claims he was a passenger on the train.

The second act shows the departure of Sue, and the arrest of "Old Arkansas" and Jim Cummings who is thought to be his confederate. The third act is in a fine St. Louis mansion and is given to the introduction of Sue who is now a "fine lady." Gerald Hawley who proposes to her, after a brief acquaintance is rejected and he gives her the first news of "Old Arkansas's" arrest, and tells her it is only by marrying him that she can save her guardian's life, for Hawley says the old man cannot possibly be convicted without his identifying him. She consents at length providing that Hawley brings her a letter from "Arkansas" that she may be satisfied that it is his wish.

The fourth act is given over to Hawley's futile attempt to get such a letter from "Arkansas." In his rage he sets a mob on the jail. In the meantime Jerry, a weak minded backwoodsman, has followed after clue and put two and two together with the result that at the last moment "Arkansas" is freed, and Hawley placed in his cell. So the mob deals out punishment to the real villain after all. This interesting story, with wonderful innovations in the way of stage effects, will be seen at the Holland's Opera House Wednesday Feb. 18.
